gamma telangana song free .Apoptosis induced by tumor necrosis factor-alpha and interferon-alpha requires the participation of tumor necrosis factor-alpha receptors and interferon-alpha receptor type 1 in normal cells. Tumor necrosis factor-alpha (TNF-alpha) and interferon-alpha (IFN-alpha) are cytokines that play pivotal roles in immune system activation and inflammatory responses. In this study, we investigated the cell death inducing effect of TNF-alpha and IFN-alpha in several human cell lines. TNF-alpha and IFN-alpha each induced caspase-dependent, but not caspase-independent, apoptosis when they were added to human cell lines such as HL60 and Jurkat cells, but not in mouse cell lines such as B10.BR or C3H/10T1/2 cells.

Stimulation of cell death by TNF-alpha and IFN-alpha seemed to be a specific response, because several other inflammatory cytokines, including lymphotoxin-alpha, lymphotoxin-beta, and interleukin-1, showed no apoptotic effects. The effect of TNF-alpha and IFN-alpha was dependent on the presence of their receptors. However, neither TNF receptors 1 (p55/TNF-R1) nor 2 (p75/TNF-R2) was specifically responsible for the action of TNF-alpha and IFN-alpha; the presence of each receptor was necessary for the induction of cell death by each cytokine. TNF-R2 was also necessary for IFN-gamma-mediated augmentation of IFN-alpha-induced apoptosis. Moreover, co-stimulation of TNF-alpha receptors and IFN-alpha receptors accelerated apoptosis, as does IFN-alpha receptor stimulation alone. These results indicate that TNF-alpha and IFN-alpha can induce apoptosis when
